DASH for CHRISTMAS CASH: JUST $400

It was another profitable week-end at Harry Bondi Sports, as we went 7-2 (78%), highlighted by our 10-Star NFL "Lock of the Year" winner!

It started when we won our Thursday and Friday selections on Dallas (-6) over what's left of New Orleans, 27-17, while Utah (-3) demolished Oregon, 38-10, in the Pac-12 Championship Game.

On Saturday we rode with Oklahoma State (-6) over Baylor, but the Cowboys couldn't overcome 4 interceptions and settled for 3 field goals inside the 10 yard line and lost 21-16. We bounced back later in the day with easy wins on Louisiana (+3) over Appalachian State outright, 24-16, and Pittsburgh (-3) over Wake Forest, 45-21.

We nailed our top NFL play on Sunday, as the Los Angeles Chargers (+3) routed popular Cincinnati, 41-22. We followed that with another under-dog winning outright when Washington (+2) beat Las Vegas, 17-15. Hopes for another Sunday Sweep were dashed when Denver (+9) lost to Kansas City, 22-9, despite outgaining the Chiefs 404-267!

All attention then turned to our 10 Star NFL "Lock of the Year" of New England (+3) over Buffalo Monday

Harry Bondi nailed his 10-Star NFL "Lock of the Year" as New England's running game powered the Pats (+3) to a 14-10 victory.

Night. We knew the game was going to be played in bad conditions and knew that would help Bill Belichick and New England's league-leading rushing attack. But even we were surprised the Patriots threw just three passes! New England ran all over the Bills on the way to a 14-10 victory, padding our clients pockets and capping off a 7-2 weekend of winners!

The "Lock of the Year" winner ran our best-in-the-business Big Game record to 26-11, 70%. Overall, we are also on a 14-6, 70%, run in football that has seen all "Steam Team" Members pick up $3,300 of net profit at just $100 a star.

Why are we the only service in the country that shows its record in print? Because we are one of the few services that is honest and wins. If you are looking to win and deal with pros rather than jackasses give us a call at 1-877-332-0077 today.

BONDI'S BEST BETS

BASKETBALL: SATURDAY, DEC. 11TH

CLEVELAND over Sacramento 8 P.M. ET

The Cleveland Cavs have been a pleasant surprise this season and much of it has to do with the rookie Evan Mobley. The 7-footer is averaging 14 points and eight rebounds per game, and he's been a key defensive cog for the Cavs and he's our pick to win Rookie of the Year. The big guy can get out on the perimeter and defend and that's causing all kinds of problems for opposing offenses, especially those seeing Cleveland for the first time, as the team entered this week with the No. 2 scoring defense in the league and in the Top 5 of defending the glass. That doesn't bode well for the young Kings, who will be playing in their third city in four nights and the second game of a road back-to-back. The Cavs entered the week 9-3 ATS at home and 7-3 at the betting window against Western Conference teams. Sacramento doesn't have a Plan B when their offense isn't clicking so expect the Cavs to dominate on the defensive end and run away with an easy home victory tonight.

★ BROWN over Vermont (Friday, Dec. 10)

Very quietly, Brown has put together an impressive start to the season, taking care of business vs. equal or inferior competition, going 4-1 against the spread as a favorite. They've also more than competed against quality teams, losing to North Carolina by just seven points as a 24-point dog and losing by a bucket to Colorado as an 11-point dog. The Vermont offense is slow and deliberate, ranking 268th in the nation in scoring. Brown dictates the pace and takes home the cash.

★ UC-SAN DIEGO over Seattle (Sun. Dec. 12)

Great scheduling spot here for the Tritons, who have had 10 days off to prepare for this game and get to face a Seattle team coming in off a trip to Las Vegas to play the Running Rebels on Wednesday. Entering the week, Seattle was sporting a 7-2 record, but that is misleading since none of the Redhawks' first seven opponents ranked in the top 275 of our power rankings. UC-San Diego already has wins over George Washington and Cal, and cash in again today on the road.

NFL: SUNDAY, DEC. 12TH

CAROLINA (-2.5) over Atlanta 1 P.M. ET

The honeymoon is over for Matt Rhule in Carolina and heads are already starting to roll. Offensive guru Joe Brady got the axe last week, which came as a surprise to many. Nonetheless, we like the situation for the Panthers, who had last week off. The bye week could not have come at a better time as the team got a chance to reset on offense, adjust to life without China Doll Christian McCafferty, who has now missed 18 games in the last two seasons, and get QB Cam Newton a full two weeks to acclimate himself to the offense. But the key to this game will be the Panther "D," which ranks in the Top 10 of the league in points allowed, yards allowed, points allowed per play, TDs allowed per game and 3rd-down efficiency. With 2 weeks to prepare, Carolina will be able to shut down the sputtering Falcons, who scored just one TD in last week's loss to Tampa Bay and have totaled more than 21 points just once in its last 6 games. 28-16

★ DENVER -7.5 over Detroit

Never overreact to what you saw last. That's the No. 1 rule when handicapping the NFL. The last time we saw these teams, the Broncos were losing to KC on Sunday night and the Lions were celebrating their first win in 364 days. Despite the win over Minnesota, Detroit is still terrible and they're primed for a letdown. Denver is 12-5 ATS the week after a loss and 11-5 ATS in its last 16 vs. losing teams. Rout! 30-13

★ UNDER 44.5 - Giants at Chargers

Our Free Picks at www.HarryBondi.com and at 617-499-1977 have hit 65% over the last 30 days. One of those winners came last Sunday when we went under in the Giants game and we go to the well again today. The G-Men have gone under in 21 of their last 28 games. They're starting Jake Fromm at QB and have scored a total of 32 points in their last 3 games. LAC is 19-9 to the under as a home chalk. UNDER
